EYES OF OIL WORLD ARE ON TURNER VALLEY

General Progress Reported
In Every Section Of Valley Field

CALGARY, June 2.—With British and American capital already heavily interested in the Turner Valley field and another big British syndicate now forming for development in the proven crude oil in the west, the indications are that by mid-summer Canada's greatest oil activity will be well under way and that the only proven oil field in the British Empire will begin to assume its proper importance in the eyes of the oil world.

A steady support of the market in recent days is believed to be only the forerunner of sustained support which will send oil shares soaring in the near future. The present trend is being watched closely by interests connected with the leading oil organizations of Great Britain and the United States.

WEST FLANK ACTIVE

General progress is being reported in almost every section of Turner Valley, but the bulk of the activity is on the west flank where over 40 wells are being drilled with others being spudded almost daily. Drillers are doing the housework of the well and with the opening of the roads rigs and materials are being rushed into place for the season's operations.

Reports from the Anglo-Canadian group indicate that the west flank of this organization are making rapid headway. Foundation at 6470 feet is producing daily and dividends are being paid monthly. The Monarch Properties well of Acadia is down 5862 feet and making hole steadily. The well at present drilling is the Baltimore formation and it is expected that the streamers will be reached about the 6300 foot level. Completion of the well is expected during July and all indications are that it is following the same structure encountered in other producers on the west flank.

EXCELLENT PROGRESS

Prairie Royalties Ltd. is also making excellent drilling progress. The well at present being drilled is countered at 2400 feet. This is regarded as an important marker. The well is now down 2385 feet and is expected to be the next Anglo-Canadian well to be brought in.

Firestone field is drilling at 2205 feet while Westlake Oil No. 1 is making good hole at 1112 feet. Westlake No. 2 has the oil dug and foundation laid. The well is now assembling the derrick. It is expected that drilling operations will commence in the near future.

CELLAR DUG

At the 8th still Royalties location the cellar has been dug, the foundation laid, and the crew is on hand awaiting equipment. Drilling is expected to commence within two weeks. The recent drilling at the United States having delayed delivery of the heavy duty rig ordered for this well.

All the Anglo-Canadian equipment is the most up-to-date and efficient that can be procured and rapid headway is expected once drilling on these properties gets under way.

U.S. GENEROUS OVER ALBERTA DEBT DEFAULT

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Securities commission officials today said that the U.S. government would not sue the province for default on its securities in the United States.

The law passed last year gave the government authority to sue the province for default on its securities, but the government has decided to forego this action.

The default, however, focused attention on the province's financial situation and the commission report to congress.

The commission advised congress to give encouragement and lend money, if necessary, to the Foreign Bondholders Protective Council of New York, an independent organization which helps bondholders to negotiate settlements with defaulting foreign governments.

ONTARIO EDITOR BACK FROM LONG VISIT TO REBELS

HENDRY, France, June 2.—John Connelley, editor of Truth, a Roman Catholic periodical at London, Ont., reached here today after a three-month tour of insurgent Spanish territory.

He said General Queipo de Llano, commander of the southern insurgent forces, told him he wished to apologize to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Cosmo Lang for comparing him with Rasputin, the Russian monk, in a broadcast.

Queipo de Llano told him, the London editor said, he had confused the Archbishop of Canterbury with the Dean of Canterbury. Dr. Hewitt Johnson, who recently toured government-held Spain and spoke in favor of the Madrid-Valencia administration.

Chinese-Born Girl Is New Master Of Arts

LONDON, Ont. June 2.—Miss Pearl Wong born in China but who came to Canada when she was five years of age, will receive her master's degree from University of Western Ontario tomorrow. Her Chinese student to receive this degree here.

Tivoli Patrons Will Hear Dulcet Strains Of Famed Ensemble

The Tivoli ballroom ushers in tomorrow its summer season by presenting for one night only the sophisticated swing, rugged rhythm, and peppy harmony of Mart Kenney and his Western Gentlemen.

At considerable expense Mart Kenney was booked for this engagement because it is understood that this will be the only opportunity for Edmontonians to see and hear this wonderful aggregation of musicians. Mart Kenney's orchestra features vocalists Eleanor Bartelle, Art Hallman and the vocal trio, "Three of a Kind."

The Tivoli gave its dancing patrons the music of Mel Hamill and his orchestra, now playing and night stands in and around Toronto. Last summer it featured Chet Lambertson, now one of the outstanding bandleaders in Edmonton.

Commencing Tuesday, June 8, the swing music of Joe Miceli and his Jam Band will be heard. The Tivoli was the first public ballroom in Alberta to feature a girl vocalist with their bands. Miss Pearl Collett singing the vocal lyrics, to all the popular tunes with the Top Hatters during their eight months' engagement at the Tivoli.

Miss Collett originally of West Kelowna, is going a long way as her voice is especially adapted to singing with a dance orchestra. She was recently auditioned by Bob Lyman while in the city, and he was won to his praise of her singing.

A. R. MacInnis, manager of the Tivoli for the last two and a half years, is always on the lookout for something different for his patrons and takes every opportunity to give them the most up-to-date in novelties and entertainments.

Incidentally, Mr. MacInnis was the first person to give Mart Kenney post position as band leader in Vancouver, and asked him to form a band for the Alexandra ballroom which he was then managing of the original Mart Kenney band that played for Mr. MacInnis in Vancouver in 1931, six members are still with the Kenney organization.

But Biggest Steel Came From Insurance Placed In Bahamas

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Congress revealed the double-barreled nature of its health and legislation today at wealthy persons when President Roosevelt accused of dodging taxes.

After the president demanded the "evil practices" be stopped, the senate adopted a resolution for an investigation. Leaders and the inquiry will lay the facts before the public and furnish the basis for laws to circumvent the "clever little schemes" by which tax payments are avoided.

BY INCORPORATIONS

In his message, President Roosevelt included a letter from Treasury Secretary Morgenthau relating some of the methods of the alleged tax dodgers. Numerous personal corporations, incorporation of yachts, racing stables and the like.

The first method named was "the device of evading taxes by selling up foreign personal holding corporations in the Bahamas, Panama, Newfoundland and other places where taxes are low and corporation laws lax."

Not only have many such companies been chartered in those places since 1926, he said, but "stockholders have resorted to all manner of devices to prevent the acquisition of information regarding their companies."

CANADIAN CHARACTER

He cited several instances, including that of an individual who claimed a large net loss of his income for the year 1935, by the device of foreign insurance corporations.

Two New York insurance agents, he said, have organized insurance companies in the Bahamas with "ingenious schemes" for tax dodging. Another says large sums for policies, he said, and immediately receive back practically the entire sum, claiming a deduction for interest payments.

By this means, he said, "five prominent Americans sought to evade $500,000 in income taxes for the years 1932 to 1936." The "trust" was discovered, he added, and all have offered to settle in full, with interest.

yachts and country estates" was next, a scheme by which estate taxpayers have sought to deduct cost of maintaining pleasure craft and the upkeep of their homes.

Under this heading, Morgenthau also mentioned the incorporation of a racing stable whose losses last year were $200,000, with the taxpayer seeking a consequent tax saving of $140,000.

CHAMBERLAIN WITHDRAWS TAX ON INDUSTRIES

Premier Says He Can Get More Money and By Better Way

LONDON, June 2.—Prime Minister Chamberlain, stating, "I can get a larger amount and in a better way." Tuesday withdrew the hitherto-called national defence contribution tax on growth of profits and announced in the House of Commons it would be replaced by a simpler tax on profits.

He stated the article of the first-stage bill dealing with the contribution schedules would not be moved in committee. The finance bill, based on the budget, was then approved on second reading 340 to 140. A Labor amendment was defeated.

NO DETAILS

Chamberlain, who himself introduced the budget prior to his election last week, did not supply details of the projected simple tax. He stated, however, they did not involve increases in either income taxes or corporate taxes, but would be based on the profits of industry.

"We need does not include big-headed obduracy," he declared, "in concealing the truth, but we must get over the growth of profits."

He explained the new proposals will require a new financial result. The withdrawal of the measure which will enter the finance bill. Therefore the first session the house will have to deal with the measure, which he said, would be introduced by Sir John Simon, Chamberlain's successor as chancellor of the exchequer, under the new resolution.

THE COMPLETE

The question of whether the prime minister suffered from the withdrawal of the measure which he had repeatedly defended in the house of commons and in outside speeches interested members.

Some expressed the opinion the capitalization was too complete but their views did not dim the general satisfaction over the announcement. Cautious brief was expressed by financial quarters.

Opposition to the measure developed in the city while a large number of members were in the parliamentary subway against it.

Grosvenor, plant manager, last night that a proposition he had made with regard to the settlement of the dispute had been turned down by the strikers because it did not grant recognition of the United Automobile Workers of America union.

OTTAWA, June 2.—President Roosevelt's message to congress on income tax evaders was keenly interest to income tax officials here although they declined to indicate how many holding companies had been reported to Canada by United States citizens. This was in keeping with their practice of securing respecting information contained in income tax returns.

The president expressed the view that wealthy Americans had found companies in Canada which became holding companies for subsidiaries established in Canada with low income taxes or no income taxes in order to evade taxes in the United States.

HIGHER HERE

Income taxes in Canada are higher than in the United States, it was stated, so there would be no relief to the taxpayers by simply moving from one country to the other. It is known, however, some United States citizens have changed their domicile, but the belief here is it is more a provision against future developments, than present laws.

Tax officials were emphatic the movement had no appreciable effect on the growth of Canada's income tax revenue. Increased revenues of Canada were almost entirely paid by those who lived in the United States.

Canada does encourage foreign residents to organize holding companies in Canada. The Income Tax Act has a provision exempting income from taxation but of incorporated companies whose business is carried on wholly or in substantial entirety outside Canada.

NOT LIABLE

This provision, it was learned, has resulted in many companies being organized in Canada in order that they may be liable for income tax. It is not likely to acquire which have their assets outside the dominion. It is stated as the place where the business is carried on and not where the assets are located.

The government of the day disclosed the exemption was applied on this type of company in the Dominion which would be a blow to this country. This exemption has been extended to include holding companies of foreign residents.

NONE IN BAHAMAS

The president's message cited instances of United States citizens incorporating companies in Canada which in turn organized companies in the Bahamas where there are no income taxes. One advantage of this was that the Canadian company would hold only securities of the Bahamas, which the Bahamas company might deal in Canadian as well as United States securities. If the Canadian company held Canadian securities direct it would not qualify for exemption.

Exercise Proves Good For Beautiful Teeth

By GLADYS GLAD

More than 3,000 years ago, when man was in his primitive state and existence was one continual struggle, most people possessed very strong, healthy teeth. In those days, men and women chewed very tough, fibrous wild meats. They gnawed at roots and stems and bits of vegetation. They obtained the proper vitamins from foods not deprived of their natural value. And scientists claim that that's one reason why their teeth, so the whole, were so healthy and strong.

In those days, teeth were valued merely because of the masticating service they rendered to man. But nowadays, teeth serve more than a masticating purpose. They are still considered indispensable for the maintenance of food, but they are regarded as an object of beauty.

As the day and age of soft, refined foods, however, chewing seems to have gone out of style. Many of the foods that people eat today require very little mastication. And as a consequence, the teeth and gums are deprived of a great many benefits it is right that I should stress the importance of brushing the teeth frequently and visiting the dentist periodically, but I also believe that there is a great deal to be learned from the teeth and gums of the primitive man.

Chewing certain coarse, tough substances really does aid materially in the preservation of healthy, strong teeth. And this is the first place, it exercises the jaw muscles and improves the blood flow to the teeth sockets, and these things are really most important for teeth health and beauty.

What's more, this practice exercises the gums and aids greatly in circulation, thus insuring a proper supply of blood to the teeth. And it also increases the firmness of saliva and helps to keep the mouth and throat clean.

The girl who can flash an attractive smile is usually the one who chews the beauty foods in a real sense. And this is the one who is considered the most attractive. Every one of us should consider the care of our teeth just as much as we should consider the care of our face, for it really does make a difference when you get right down to it.

In addition to keeping the teeth clean, it is equally important to keep the gums and supporting tissue healthy. The gums must be given care if a smile is to be real and lasting. The gums, receding gums are an unsightly, repulsive condition, and to keep them firm, healthy and most important of all, to keep them from receding, is the duty of every woman.

A daily massage of the gums is not only essential for their health, but it is also a very modern, because of the convenience of the exercise, that comes as a powder to be mixed with water, is claimed by the makers to be a multipurpose. Whatever you use, you must be sure that the rug is thoroughly dry before storing it away. Hang it in a dry place, or otherwise, so that it can reach the underside. For storage, sprinkle with crystals all over the rug, roll it up and wrap it in a heavy paper.

PUMP VIBRATION
Question—1 have an electric pump in my house, and I suppose that it comes through the walls. Answer—The vibration is much more likely to be a multipurpose. The pump can cut it down and possibly stop it completely by putting sections of heavy hose in the pipe; sections of hose will probably be sufficient. Whistling sometimes goes on, or something like that. This is your case, raise the pump and insert blocks of cork or similar material beneath it.

PUMP VIBRATION
Question—1 have an electric pump in my house, and I suppose that it comes through the walls. Answer—The vibration is much more likely to be a multipurpose. The pump can cut it down and possibly stop it completely by putting sections of heavy hose in the pipe; sections of hose will probably be sufficient. Whistling sometimes goes on, or something like that. This is your case, raise the pump and insert blocks of cork or similar material beneath it.

YOU WAS
GOOD ENGLISH
WIZ NOT

Many people erroneously use the expression "you was" when speaking to a person, and "you were" when speaking to several persons. This error is inexcusable in most people, for no one as experienced as you in English language as "you was." It is always "you were" in English, no one person or more than one. In formal speech, such as in a courtroom, the expression "thou art" is often used. People must often fall into error by saying "thou art" when they are talking to a person and "I was" when they are talking to a group.

OTTAWA, June 2.—A prolonged period of good times was predicted last night by Arthur B. Purvis, chairman of the national employment commission, in an address before the fifth Canadian conference.

"Prices of all primary products are rising," he said, "and the market is becoming more active. Mr. Purvis declared: "And except for the farm products area in the prairie provinces, these engaged in the extraction of natural wealth from the soil are finding themselves better and better able to produce the materials which they require."

NAZI REVOLT WITH VATICAN SEEN NEARING

Mundelein Speech Threatens Relations Between Berlin, Holy See

BERLIN, June 2.—Germany took what appeared to be the first step toward ending relations with the Vatican today, because Pope Pius XII had not released Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago for his criticism of the Nazi regime.

A note to the holy see said that the German government's regret that the United States cardinal's references to the Holy See in his "Autumn paper" and to recent convocation of churches for the year, as "an Austrian paper," were "permitted to stand."

Cardinal Pius XII had indicated in his statement that the cardinal was free to speak his mind without restriction, and that Pius XII therefore was not obliged to interfere.

"The holy see must realize that its unpermitted and uncomprehending attitude in this matter, as long as it remains unremedied, has removed the pre-conditions for the normal course of relations between the German government and the Roman curia," the body of the convocation and tribune, through which the Pope governs the church.

German ambassador to the Vatican, Dr. von Bergen, presented the note and then left Rome on his return to Berlin. He was back for some time, a German foreign office spokesman said. The spokesman said neither the German government nor the Vatican had received the note, but other sources stated that the note had been received. The note would be more formal than the one which was sent to the Vatican, it was said.

FIND COMFORT

German protesters to draw some comfort from the conclusion that the Vatican need no longer regard German Catholics as "Austrian paper," the Vatican spokesman said.

The Nazis will continue to ignore Catholic education upon which a hand in education of German youth.

The renewed church differences, which are said to be the cause of the Vatican's action in Spain, Greece and Italy, were said to be the cause of the Vatican's action in Spain, Greece and Italy.

BRITAIN OFFERS OLIVE BRANCH TO GERMANY

No More Sincere Friend Of Peace Maintained, Envoy Declares

BERLIN, June 2.—Great Britain, through her ambassador to Berlin, today assured Germany that if she would keep the peace in Europe she "has not a more sincere nor more ardent friend in the world than Great Britain."

In the midst of the European crisis over the Spanish conflict, Sir Neville Henderson, new British envoy to the Nazi regime, urged the opportunity of a resumption of the German-English dialogue, said German officials today.

POINTS MISCONCEPTIONS

The ambassador assured Germans they were mistaken if they believed "Great Britain is everywhere trying to put obstacles in Germany's path."

The ambassador disavowed what he called two outstanding misconceptions which he said were taken in Germany.

"In England, for example," he said, "too many people get a completely false idea of what the National-Socialist (Nazi) regime really means. Otherwise they would be less hostile to Germany."

"I can assure you that Great Britain is making no such attempt, nor even thinking of doing it. We have full understanding for Germany's position in the world."

"Germany's most vital problem today is the question of raw materials. I do not believe Germany will find in any country a greater friend than Great Britain for her support than in Great Britain."

"There has been more than enough readiness to help others and to help Germany in London, with its great financial resources."

"Britain is harboring no designs whatever to put Germany in any kind of subordinate position."

WANTS PEACE

"I can tell you quite definitely and without reservation that England wants peace. It wants peace in Europe and in the world, which certainly is enough of war in those terrible years from 1914 to 1918."

"Assure us of peace and peaceful development in Europe, and Germany will see that it has not a more sincere friend in the world than Great Britain."
